Press Release March 15, 2001

For Immediate Distribution

Software Corporation International (SCI) announces the appointment of Thomas S. Rohrer as President of the company. Rohrer, 53, joined the firm at its inception in 1990 and served as General Manager until promoted to Executive Vice President in 1999. Michael D. Nash previously held the position of President and will continue as Chairman of the Board for the privately held Ohio company.

SCI is a national, professional services and technology solutions provider. It is one of the world's largest independent providers of technical consultants for the Item Processing industry. The firm recently formed an application development group in Charlotte, NC. The firm's eBusiness Solutions Group is based in Buffalo, NY.

According to Mr. Nash, "Tom has been the key to SCI's growth over the last decade". "He has provided skilled leadership and has a keen sense of the marketplace. More importantly, he is a valued resource to our clients." Mr. Nash added that SCI has significantly expanded its infrastructure and recruited key executives over the past 1 ½ years allowing SCI to better serve its clients and expand its markets.

Mr. Rohrer, a native of Lancaster, PA, previously worked in Buffalo, NY for SUNY at Buffalo, Computer Task Group, M&T Bank, and HSBC, USA before relocating to West Palm Beach, FL with his wife, Leanne in 1994. He holds a B.A. degree in Mathematics from Millersville University and a M.A. in Statistics from SUNY at Buffalo. He has also served as Buffalo Chapter president for the American Statistical Association and The Association for Computing Machinery.
